LL is not serene in the baseball A world just at present. From Cincinnati, where the National Commission has been in session, comes the rumor of a war that may even be than that which was precipitated has been crying searon after season that it hasn't been getting a fair deal. Frequent reports have been received to the effect that Chicago and other major league territory were to be invaded. Now comes the action that is likely to result in the biggest turmoil that ever the drafting rights on minor leagues now held by them, buying all players direct from the major or minor leagues. So critical has the situation become that the recretary of the National Commission has been instructed not to turn over any drafting money, forwarded by major league clubs, to the A. A. teams until further notice.

For a number of years the A. A.

→HE A. A. has been given until Sept. 10 to decide whether or not they will continue to operate under the national agreement. In handing down its decision the Na-need of for a small price.

The major loagues have an immense sinking fund for any such emergency as the threatened accession of the American Association, and if the war takes place it is bound to result in a great lose for all those concerned.

The A. A. is going to hold a meeting in the near future to decide on what course it will take in the rumpus.

"D UMB DAN" MORGAN didn't have much more to say year terday than though he had a maxim silencer attached to his mouth. When he rang up, however, he com-mented as follows on his boy's showing against Matt Wells:

the worst battle I ever saw him put up. He was as slow as an me like an his feet and swung his arms like an old woman. But I must give Wells old woman, lad K. O. He was as slow as an ice cart on lots of credit. He is the best lad K. O. ever met, but when you see them in another fight, mark my words, things will be quite different. I am willing to bet everything that I have that Wells would make Wolgast look like a ter-rible joke in a ten-round battle, and would outpoint him three to one to what he scored against my Dutchman."

HE boxing fever that hit New York so hard Wednesday night promises to sweep the count from coast to coast. Even Pennsylvania is clamoring for legislation such as was enacted at Albany. A Pittsburgh representative in the Legislature at Harrisburg is going to introduce a bill in the fall patterned after the Frawley bill, and he believes that there will be no trouble in having it passed. A delegation of sporting men are going to be sent to this city to watch the operation of the law now in force in this State, and all its good points will be embodied in the Pennsylvania measure.
